

CHARLES FOSTER ASSIGNS.

THE EX-Secretary OF THE TREASURY ENBARSED IN BUSINESS.

Too Much Politics and Too Much Ambition for His Town. He Says, Have Carried His Down—He Says His Assets Are About $500,000, and His Liabilities Are Greater than That, but in Reality Less.

FORTHOUGH, O., May 26.—Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles Foster, in honor of whose family this place is named, and who has been identified with its prosperity as well as that of many persons and places in this part of Ohio, has retired everywhere as a millionaire, has failed. He made an assignment during last night to his personal creditors, J. B. Corwin, a banker of Bucyrus. Mr. Foster gives out his liabilities as $500,000, and says that he has hoped to save the day. Now that he has given up he does not expect to be able to pay his creditors in full.

Perhaps no better explanation of the failure, its causes and its scope, can be given than the following account of the career of the politician, which the ex-Secretary made public to-day.

MR. FOSTER'S CAREER.
Associate of His Business and Political Life—Few if Any Creditors Here.
Ex-Secretary Foster's embarrassments have little or no local interest here. President John M. McKim, of the American Leather National Bank, in the Westcott building, Broadway and Chambers street, said yesterday that Foster & Co. had had an account with the bank for twenty years, and that there was still a balance there in their favor. Mr. Crane had always believed Mr. Foster to be worth anywhere from half a million to a million dollars.

President George F. Baker of the First National Bank, and others have had dealings with Mr. Foster, but not large dealings, and all are fully protected.

Mr. Foster has four bosom friends in New York. Two are Democrats, Senator Calvin Stewart Brice and ex-Governor James E. Campbell. The other two are Republicans, Henry W. Cannon, President of the Chase National Bank, and Gen. Sam Thomas, Treasurer of the Republican State Committee. Gen. Thomas in old days was the partner of Senator Brice at Lima, O. All four gentlemen are members of the Manhattan Club, the home of the well-to-do of the city.

Mr. Foster is in his sixty-sixth year. His father settled in Fostoria and owned 20,000 acres of land. He was a successful farmer and a successful politician. He was elected Governor of Ohio in 1870, and served two terms in the House. He was for a time a member of the Ohio State Senate. In 1870 he was elected Governor of Ohio by 17,121 plurality and 3,492 majority.

President Harrison selected him to fill the vacancy left in the cabinet by the sudden death of William B. Ewing. He served for a short time, but his health broke down, and he went to Europe for a short rest.

After his return he devoted all his energies to the Ohio delegation for Harrison at the National Convention. He was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

After the Convention, during the campaign, he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation, and he was elected to the Ohio delegation.

DR. BRIGGS IS DEFEATED.

THE ASSEMBLY DECIDES, TWO TO ONE, TO ENTERTAIN THE APPEAL.

Scenes of Excitement and Disorder—Dr. Briggs Demanded the Right to Be Heard to Correct Misstatements, But Is Shouted Down by His Opponents and Kicked Out by the Moderator—The Vote by Synod, 405 to 144 in Favor of Entertaining the Appeal from the New York Presbytery.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The largest attendance so far at this meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church was present at this morning's session. Upon the formal motion to approve the minutes of yesterday, the flurry of last night over the form of question to be voted upon at the close of the four hours' debate by the indicator was renewed. The Moderator said that he would entertain a motion to amend the form of the question, the motion to be voted upon without further debate. This was satisfactory to all parties, and the Moderator gave the floor to Elder Ketchum of New Jersey, who spoke in favor of sending the case of Prof. Briggs back to the Synod, and of not entertaining the appeal.

Elder Thomas McDougall of Cincinnati argued in favor of trying the case at once, without sending it back to the Synod. Dr. Briggs said that if the matter were sent back to the Synod of New York he would waive his constitutional rights.

"No," said Dr. Briggs, quickly. "Ah, I thought so," responded Mr. McDougall. "I thought that you or one of your friends would raise the question of the Synod's right to act on the case."

Dr. Briggs rose as Mr. McDougall took his seat, and said that he did not want to be kept from his feet, and the Moderator asked him what he wanted to say.

"It is evident," he said, "that Mr. McDougall has placed me in a false position before this Assembly, and I wish to explain."

From all over the house arose objections to hearing Dr. Briggs, and the Moderator asked him to leave the house.

Dr. Briggs rose and said that he did not want to be kept from his feet, and the Moderator asked him what he wanted to say.

"It is evident," he said, "that Mr. McDougall has placed me in a false position before this Assembly, and I wish to explain."

From all over the house arose objections to hearing Dr. Briggs, and the Moderator asked him to leave the house.

Dr. Briggs rose and said that he did not want to be kept from his feet, and the Moderator asked him what he wanted to say.

"It is evident," he said, "that Mr. McDougall has placed me in a false position before this Assembly, and I wish to explain."

From all over the house arose objections to hearing Dr. Briggs, and the Moderator asked him to leave the house.

Dr. Briggs rose and said that he did not want to be kept from his feet, and the Moderator asked him what he wanted to say.

"It is evident," he said, "that Mr. McDougall has placed me in a false position before this Assembly, and I wish to explain."

From all over the house arose objections to hearing Dr. Briggs, and the Moderator asked him to leave the house.

Dr. Briggs rose and said that he did not want to be kept from his feet, and the Moderator asked him what he wanted to say.

"It is evident," he said, "that Mr. McDougall has placed me in a false position before this Assembly, and I wish to explain."

From all over the house arose objections to hearing Dr. Briggs, and the Moderator asked him to leave the house.

Dr. Briggs rose and said that he did not want to be kept from his feet, and the Moderator asked him what he wanted to say.

"It is evident," he said, "that Mr. McDougall has placed me in a false position before this Assembly, and I wish to explain."

From all over the house arose objections to hearing Dr. Briggs, and the Moderator asked him to leave the house.

Dr. Briggs rose and said that he did not want to be kept from his feet, and the Moderator asked him what he wanted to say.

"It is evident," he said, "that Mr. McDougall has placed me in a false position before this Assembly, and I wish to explain."

From all over the house arose objections to hearing Dr. Briggs, and the Moderator asked him to leave the house.

Dr. Briggs rose and said that he did not want to be kept from his feet, and the Moderator asked him what he wanted to say.

"It is evident," he said, "that Mr. McDougall has placed me in a false position before this Assembly, and I wish to explain."

From all over the house arose objections to hearing Dr. Briggs, and the Moderator asked him to leave the house.

Dr. Briggs rose and said that he did not want to be kept from his feet, and the Moderator asked him what he wanted to say.

GAGGED BY A MASKED THIEF.

MRS. HUTCHINS'S EXCITING EXPERIENCE IN HER OWN HOUSE.

West Farms Agitated Over a Daring Robbery—Committee There in Daylight—The Thief Left a Message for the Captain.

There was a robbery at West Farms on Thursday evening, the sensational circumstances of which have caused much excitement there. The robber seems to have been an unusually bold and determined fellow. His victim is a young married woman named Lulu Hutchins.

She is slightly built, about 24 years old, and the wife of George Hutchins, a brakeman on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. They were married last December, and took up their residence in a neat little two-story frame cottage at 1,581 Main street, West Farms. The house stands well back from the street.

The train that Mr. Hutchins is employed on makes short runs from New York and Mr. Hutchins works from noon to about midnight. He received his month's pay on Wednesday night. Mrs. Hutchins spent most of Thursday at her mother's house, just across the Bronx River, nearly opposite West Farms.

She returned home about 5/4 o'clock in the afternoon, without waiting for her mother, and entered the house by the back door, which was unlocked. She found the kitchen and the parlor empty, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

THEY GOT THE RAIN.

The Heavens Bombarded for Two Hours by All Western Kansas.

TOPERA, Kan., May 26.—A combined effort is being made by the citizens of western Kansas to produce rain by the use of explosives, and the State arsenal is being drawn upon for large guns to assist in the general bombardment. The first experiment was made yesterday by the simultaneous explosions of about 100 tons of powder and chemicals at Wellington, Winfield, Newton, Caldwell, Arkansas City, South Haven, and Hutchinson, and other southwestern cities in the wheat belt. It was followed by the heaviest rainfall of the present year, not only in the localities named, but also at Mobern, Scranton, Junction City, Admire, Clyde, and other places in central and northwestern Kansas.

In addition to the firing of cannon, hundreds of men and boys joined in the fusillade with rifles and shotguns, the bombardment continuing from noon until 2 o'clock, at which time the rain was general throughout eight miles. At some places the storm continued for four hours, the average rainfall being 3 inches. The experiments were conducted by the officers of the several cities, and they were firmly convinced that this unusual precipitation was the result of the cannonading.

The rain that Mr. Hutchins is employed on makes short runs from New York and Mr. Hutchins works from noon to about midnight. He received his month's pay on Wednesday night. Mrs. Hutchins spent most of Thursday at her mother's house, just across the Bronx River, nearly opposite West Farms.

She returned home about 5/4 o'clock in the afternoon, without waiting for her mother, and entered the house by the back door, which was unlocked. She found the kitchen and the parlor empty, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room. She found the door unlocked, and she went to her room.

EULALIA ROYALLY FETED.

A DRIVE, A SAIL, AND A BRILLIANT COURTLY BALL.

The Concert Hall of the Madison Square Garden Magnificently Adorned with Flowers and Green—Some Hilarity, After All, When the Order of Presentation Came—Everybody Charming with the Princess—The Forerunner's Trip Up the Hudson Interrupted by a Visit to the Santa Maria—An Officer of the Cavalry Injured by the Explosion of a Gun Which Was Not Meant for Use—Callers at the Hotel.

Central Park, the Hudson River, and the Madison Square Garden Concert Hall in holiday dréas were put at the disposal of the Infanta Eulalia yesterday, and she appeared to enjoy all the pleasures offered to her. She drove through the Park to Riverside Drive and Sixth street, where the Dolphin took her up the river as far as Yonkers.

In the evening she was the guest of honor at the ball given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

Being tired by the travelling and excitement of the previous day, the Infanta had rested until late in the morning, and it was 11:30 o'clock when an unusual scurrying about of the royal household announced that she was about to appear in the more public of her engagements. The Infanta's dress was of white, and she wore a crown of diamonds. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo Colon-Cervantes, and Society met with a bold front the unwelcome peril of a presentation in New York to a live Princess of a reigning dynasty.

The Infanta remained in her room until 11:30 o'clock, when she came down to the ball. She was accompanied by the Duke of Tamames, the Prince of Asturias, and the Duke of Segovia. The ball was given by the Committee of 100 and the Circulo